HIS OWN EXECUTIONER.

An Incendiary Who Enjoyed Exclusive Privileges in the Final Act.

Bloodhounds Ran Him Down and an Angry Mob Prepared to Lynch.

Little Rock, Ark., June 16.—Messenger Aronson arrived from Monroe Lake last night bringing particulars of probably the most sensational self-execution on record.

For six or eight weeks Monroe has been stirred to a white heat over fires of an incendiary origin. Several houses have been burned, entailing considerable loss. Although efforts were made to discover the firebugs they escaped detection until Wednesday, when after burning some small buildings in the outskirts of the town, bloodhounds were put on the tracks of a man who had evidently left the burning buildings. Dogs finally ran down a man named Day, who was arrested and confessed, saying he had set fire to different buildings to "get even" with certain persons who had either refused to give him employment or discharged him from their employ. Day had been night watchman for various companies.

The jail was broken open and Day was taken some distance from town, escorted by a crowd of from four hundred to six hundred persons. Day displayed great courage. He said he knew his time had come, admitted his guilt and declared that he perhaps had deserved his fate, but he brought his captors to allow him to execute himself. After some parleying this was granted.

Day had the rope which was around his neck flung over the limb of a tree, where it was securely fastened. He climbed up the tree and jumped from its branches, breaking his neck. His body swayed to and fro while shouts arose from the crowd that awoke the echoes of the surrounding woods. The spectators at once dispersed.

BLACK KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

There Would Have Been War Had a Certain Lynching Occurred.

Omaha, Neb., June 16.—Police Captain Mostyn said yesterday he had discovered that a race battle would have taken place had an attempt been made on Thursday to lynch the negro who confessed that he ravished 16-year-old Maude Rudel, and on her threat to report him to the police, murdered her. Payne was taken to the penitentiary at Lincoln when lynching talk began. He will be brought back for sentence next week and there may be trouble then.

Payne is a member of a colored lodge of Knights Templar here. The members were much excited last year by the lynching of a negro for assault. They think Payne was forced into a confession by being placed in an air-tight box into which hot air was driven.

Captain Mostyn referred to the members of this lodge when he said yesterday: "Three hundred colored men were assembled in a hall ready at a moment's notice to protect Payne from mob violence."

DOMINION CAPITAL.

Victoria Will Not be Deprived of a Sunday Paper.

Ottawa, June 16.—The senate has thrown out the Sabbath observance bill on a vote of 22 to 15, and the Sunday morning paper is still safe.

Hon. Messrs. Foster, Bowell, Caron and Mr. Sandford Fleming will represent Canada in the intercolonial conference.

Sir Richard Cartwright's motion condemning the sale of the Thousand Islands was defeated in the house yesterday. Mr. Daly said the government policy in sacrificing the national park was at the request of the Indians.

Deputy Minister of Marine Smith left yesterday for England. He will give evidence on the load line act before the imperial board of trade.

The insolvency bill has passed the senate with the exception of a few changes.

The remains of Senator Flint were conveyed from here to Belleville to-day for interment.

The Flood Subsiding.

New Westminster, June 15.—The water has fallen four feet at Chilliwack and Mission since the fall began, and was dropping faster than ever to-day. The steamer Irving took 250 passengers and a quantity of mails to Katz Landing this morning to connect with the first train east since the road was tied up by the floods.

The steamer courser, of the government relief service, came down from Chilliwack. During the week she was absent from port a great amount of assistance has been rendered by her. She goes up again on Tuesday with seed potatoes and grain.

Prehistoric Men Discovered.

Minneapolis, June 15.—An Egan, S.D., special to the Journal reports a valuable prehistoric find in a mound at that point. A tomb has been uncovered lined with cement. In the tomb were 22 male skeletons, averaging eight feet in height. A rude altar and many bronze utensils were exposed.

Accidental Death.

North Bend, B. C., June 16.—The coroner's jury, in the case of Brakeman F. McDiarmid, killed while making a coupling at North Bend on the 14th inst., returned a verdict of accidental death, attaching blame to nobody. The deceased will be interred at Kamloops.

A Touching Little Tragedy.

San Fe, N. M., June 16.—Four-year-old Jack Downing, whose parents recently came here from Washington, D. C., accompanied his mother to the foot hills on Thursday in search of wild flowers. The mother sat down to read and the child disappeared. Eight hundred men scoured the country until last night, when tiny footprints were found ten miles from the spot where the child was last seen. They were followed to the spot where the little body lay, still warm, but the child was dead from exhaustion.

BELVA VICTORIOUS.

The Famous Champion of Women's Rights Wins Her Case.

Richmond, Va., June 16.—Mrs. Belva Lockwood has won a victory in Virginia for women. For the past four years a struggle has been going on in this state to induce the legislature to pass a special act permitting women to practice law, but without success. After a long fight Mrs. Lockwood's counsel yesterday secured a decision from the supreme court of appeals which allows her to practice the legal profession in this state. This of course throws open the same profession to all of her sex who can pass the examination.

A few weeks ago the court of appeal by a vote of two to two, one member being absent, decided against Mrs. Lockwood's petition. Upon the re-hearing, granted on Thursday, the court, sitting at Wytheville yesterday, revoked its former decision and decided in favor of Mrs. Lockwood.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES.

Arrangements for the Excursions by the I. O. O. F. and C. O. O. F.

At the last regular meeting of Loyal Dauntless lodge, C. O. O. F., Tuesday, June 12th, one candidate was initiated and several propositions for membership were received. Under "good of the order," several of the visiting brethren favored the lodge with a few short speeches, [illegible] Bro. Lotzy and others the brothers had a very enjoyable evening. Just before closing the lodge the chairman, Bro. Tees, advised the brethren to purchase their tickets for the excursion on Sunday, 23rd June, at an early date, as there are only a limited number of tickets printed.

All arrangements have been completed for the Independent Order of Odd Fellows excursion to Seattle, on Saturday, July 28th. The steamship Islander has been chartered and tickets will be on sale on Monday. Those wishing to secure staterooms may do so on Monday by presenting their tickets at the C. P. N. Company's office. No rooms will be reserved for anyone; first come, first served. On account of numerous inquiries, the general committee wishes it to be understood that the I. O. O. F. excursion to Seattle has nothing to do with the C. O. O. F. excursion to Sidney.

At the last regular meeting of Far West lodge, No. 1, K. of P., the applications of two aspirants for knighthood were read. Knights J. Meiss, W. Byers and J. Hamilson are ill. The two first mentioned are at St. Joseph's hospital. Victoria lodge, No. 17, conferred the ranks of page and esquire last Thursday evening. Supreme Chancellor Blackwell will visit Manitoba before returning to his home in Henderson, Ky. The general committee will meet next Tuesday evening to settle all accounts in connection with the reception of the supreme chancellor and grand lodge. The officers of Far West lodge, No. 1, will be installed at the first meeting in July. An excursion train will leave at 8:30 o'clock to-morrow, Sunday morning. The Knights of Pythias engaged seven coaches which will convey the party to assist in decorating the graves of deceased brethren at Nanaimo. The B. C. B. G. A. band will accompany the knights and two bands from Nanaimo and Wellington will assist in the procession which will be formed at 2:30 o'clock. The return will take place at 8 o'clock, reaching Victoria before midnight. The local lodges appointed committees to receive flowers at the train.

Gresham Denies It.

Chicago, June 16.—It is said the Populists propose that Secretary Gresham shall be the next senator for Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. Gresham are at the Palmer house. The secretary said: "I have no information of this movement, and believe it originates with the enthusiasts who offered me a Populist presidential nomination years ago. I came here for a rest, and will not discuss politics with any one. However, I am not a candidate for anything."

An Awful Sensation.

A Cincinnati preacher has hit upon a novel sensation for his church. Recently he invited all the members of his congregation who kept birds to bring them to church. They did so, and the cages, more than forty in number, were hung upon the gas brackets all around the church when the service opened. When the congregation began to assemble the rushing of dresses and fans, the turning of leaves of books and the murmur of voices startled the little songsters. At first they were shy of their unaccustomed surroundings, but after a little twittering to one another, first one began to sing, and then another, and soon the whole feathered chorus was in full song, their music rising and falling with the noises of the service, while the minister took for his text, "Consider the fowls of the air." He called the attention of the congregation to the industry of the birds, how they worked early and late, how carefully they [illegible] provided for them and taught them how to fly.

KARWIN MINE DISASTER

The Carelessness of a Miner Results in Death and Destruction.

Four Officials and Ten Miners Killed—The Mines Are Burning Yet.

London, June 16.—A special despatch to the Standard from Vienna says: During the 104 years which the Karwin mines have been in existence there have been many disastrous explosions in them. The last was in March, 1885, when 105 men were killed. It is expected that the fire will continue burning eight days as it did in 1885. Count von Larisch, owner of the mine, was in the village to-day and superintended the work of rescue, which was carried out with more zeal than discretion. The party consisted of several foremen, officials and miners, of whom one overseer, two head miners, one official and ten miners were killed by the ensuing explosions.

A dispatch to the Chronicle says: Men who escaped from the burning mines say that the explosions originated through dynamite blasting by a miner. Such blasting was against the rules, which were disobeyed by the miner in order to save him some work.

HARD ON THE COXEYITES.

One Contingent Committed for Sixty Days—Another Broken Up.

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—Twenty-eight Coxeyites, an offshoot from Kelley's army, were brought in from Fairfield yesterday morning by United States marshal Arnston for interfering with a Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis train. They were brought before Judge Allen in the federal court this morning. After hearing evidence Judge Allen sentenced them one and all to serve sixty days each in the county jail.

Julesburg, Colo., June 16.—Two hundred Coxeyites captured an east-bound freight train at Big Spring while the deputies and United States marshals were here for dinner. Their progress eastward was stopped by a westbound train and they were overtaken by the deputies. They were arrested without resistance and will be taken to Omaha. This breaks up the whole crowd.

Washington, June 16.—Galvin's army of industrials, which reached this city some time after Coxey's contingent, and has been nearly all the time at Hyattsville, has become weary of waiting for something to turn up and now contemplate a march from here to the Pacific coast.

DEADLY COLLISION.

In the Sea of Azof—Twenty-four Men Drowned.

Odessa, June 16.—News of a collision in the Sea of Azof between the Greek bark Agiptoo and the Russian steamer Narussia was received here to-day. Both vessels sank. Four of the crew of the bark and twenty of the Russian ship, including the officers, were drowned.

FED THE UNEMPLOYED.

A Man Who Was Grateful to the Kind Children.

San Francisco, June 15.—Principal A. L. Mann of the Denman school has received a letter and parcel from Daniel McLaughlin, one of the "unemployed," who worked in the park and were fed by the school children last winter. The parcel contains a lady's satchel, which he asks Mr. Mann to give to one of the school girls who took part in feeding the men at the park. The satchel is a beautiful piece of lace work, and the making of it took all of McLaughlin's spare time for several months.

Mr. Mann has decided that the gift shall be presented to the girl in his school who writes the best story of a charitable action. The conditions of the contest will be made known to the girls when school begins next month.

Mr. McLaughlin's letter was written from Auburn, Cal. "May God's blessing rest on your young heads," is the last sentence of a well written epistle.

Through the Heart.

Washington, June 16.—Ex-Congressman T. H. Payne, of Pennsylvania, now [illegible] in Washington, shot himself through the head this morning and died instantly. The inciting cause was the alarm felt at a slight hemorrhage of the lungs which occurred this morning.

Peary Unheard From.

Philadelphia, June 16.—The bark Stillcon, Captain Peterson, from Ivigtut, Greenland, May 11, reached her dock in this city yesterday. Captain Peterson said he had neither seen nor heard of the Peary party. A Peary auxiliary expedition will start soon for the relief of the explorer.

A Pedestrian Wins.

Joliet, June 16.—Harry Schmet, the Chicago pedestrian who left Springfield on Wednesday afternoon at 5 on a wager of $10,000 to walk to Chicago by this evening at 5, arrived in Joliet at 9:27 last night five hours ahead of time.

Brazilian Affairs.

Washington, June 16.—Recent information received from Mendonca, Brazilian minister, from his government is to the effect that there is no truth in the reports which appear from time to time of battles between government troops and insurgents in the southern portion of the republic.

Single Blessedness.

Omaha, Neb., June 16.—The district court held yesterday that a man and his wife being one person in the sight of the law, cannot be guilty of conspiracy. Mr. and Mrs. Multer had been charged with conspiracy to blackmail a physician of Council Bluffs. They were discharged.

WINDSOR'S TRIAL.

The Judge Commends the Prosecution for Instituting Proceedings.

New York, June 14.—The testimony for the defence in the case of Wiman, on trial for forgery, was closed this afternoon and the case was expected to go to the jury at the close of to-morrow's session. The defendant was on the stand most of the time and made many admissions under cross-examination of the repeated use of funds belonging to R. G. Dun & Co. These were called overdrafts by the witness and he produced a letter written by himself to Dun, January 14, 1893, in which letter Wiman explained his financial condition at length, and informed Dun that he had held 25 per cent. of the profits in January, 1889, instead of 17 per cent., the additional increase to him would have covered the overdrafts. It was on January 1, 1890, that the agreement between Dun, Wiman, King and Douglas was made, in accordance with which Mr. Wiman was to get 17 per cent. of the yearly profits, instead of the 20 per cent he had hitherto received.

The letter was introduced to show more clearly that Dun knew all about Wiman's overdrafts. General Tracy tried to show that Dun, by arresting Wiman, prevented a financial move on Wiman's part which would have helped to extricate him from his difficulties. Judge Ingraham ruled out all questions, said they had no bearing on the alleged forged check in the suit. Mr. Wellman then arose to cross-examine the witness. He began by getting Wiman to say that he had been the brains of R. G. Dun & Co.

"Why is it then," said Mr. Wellman, "that all the business in which you have been interested, the business of R. G. Dun & Co., has been a success, while the others were total wrecks?"

"Perhaps because I was better suited to the mercantile business than any other."

Mr. Wellman's questions caused Mr. Wiman to brace up and retort with vigor.

Mr. Wellman referred to the statement of profits of R. G. Dun & Co., submitted by General Tracy earlier in the morning. They increased steadily until in 1892 they were $525,000. The total from 1885 to 1892 inclusive was $3,316,500.

In reply to Mr. Wellman the defendant admitted several instances in which he had written and telegraphed to the firm's agents urging quick remittances on one pretext or another, and then he had applied the money to his own use.

Mr. Thurber, the well known grocer; Robert K. Kimball, stock broker; F. S. Gaxon, superintendent of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company; J. J. Withrow, president of the Industrial Institute of Toronto, and Dennis Safford, of Staten Island, testified to Mr. Wiman's high reputation for honesty and integrity, after which General Tracy said: "That is our case."

Mr. Bullinger was then recalled by Mr. Wellman, who asked him:

"Is it true that you were in the habit of loaning money?"

"It was not," answered Mr. Bullinger.

"Did you ever lend any money to Mr. Wiman?"

"Once only," said he, "that is all."

"That is all," said Mr. Wellman, triumphantly.

Mr. Dun was then called to the stand to tell the circumstances of the $55,000 note and the $100,000. He asserted he knew nothing about these until they were called to his attention by his associates. Before this he thought Wiman's overdraft amounted to only $24,000.

Mr. Dun admitted knowing that Mr. Wiman had overdrawn his accounts for the last two or three years, but never suspected that the amounts involved were so large. Mr. Dun denied that the prosecution was prompted by any fear of Wiman, as intimated by Mr. Boardman in his opening address to the jury.

"When the time comes to charge the jury," said Judge Ingraham, "I shall tell them that Mr. Dun would not have done his duty as a citizen had he not aided in the prosecution of Mr. Wiman."

At this point court was adjourned until to-morrow. Judge Ingraham says he shall limit each side to 90 minutes in the addresses to the jury.

"The case must go to the jury before night."

New York, June 15.—The trial of Erastus Wiman for forgery in the second degree was resumed this morning, when General Tracy began his summing up. He dwelt at great length on the question of criminal intent, and said that if the jury did not believe that Mr. Wiman had signed that cheque with criminal intent they must acquit him. "We concede," continued General Tracy, "that on February 6, 1893, Mr. Wiman instructed his cashier to fill out a cheque for some $5,000 to the order of E. W. Bullinger; that he signed the cheque with the firm name and endorsed the name of E. W. Bullinger on the back and then sent it to the bank and had it deposited on his own account in the Central National Bank. But the law says a man may draw a cheque against his own account to any one he pleased, and then endorse it back to himself. He cannot defraud himself. You must decide for yourselves whether or not Mr. Wiman intended to defraud his partners to get a paltry $5,000."

General Tracy spoke of the great service the defendant had rendered R. G. Dun & Co., and continued: "There has been brought into court every particle of evidence against Mr. Wiman that could be collected. His accusers have used against him letters written in the strictest confidence, under the direst distress and in great bitterness of heart. I recall another trial in which private letters were used in this way (the Beecher trial). They were the outpourings of a broken heart, and were distorted in court in a vain effort to ruin one of the greatest men this country has ever seen. And what has become of the man who produced these letters (Theodore Tilton?) He is an outcast on the face of the earth, a wanderer from his home, friendless and alone."

Mr. Wellman, for the people, dwelt upon all the safeguards the law places about a man on trial. He continued: "Let us see what defence has been made. In the first place that Mr. Wiman meant to pay the money back. So does everybody who begins to forge or steal. They also say Mr. Wiman made Mr. Dun's fortune for him. Does that give the right to steal?" This case is the more important because of the prominence of the defendant. Your verdict is being watched by the whole country. See that it is a wise one.

Justice Ingraham said that the jury must disregard everything but the facts brought out on the witness stand. He proceeded: "Men are not content to make their money in a legitimate way. They must speculate and go on speculating until they are forced to commit crime to get money. They go on from bad to worse until they end in prison." Justice Ingraham then read the law regarding forgery, saying that Wiman had come within the statute, but is not guilty of forgery unless the intent to defraud is perfectly clear. But in putting that money to his own account Mr. Wiman had defrauded not only R. G. Dun & Co., but also E. W. Bullinger, against whose account the $5,000 was charged.

As the jury filed into the court room it was very easy to see what the verdict was. As Wiman rose to face the jury his ruddy face became deathly pale and he trembled violently. The foreman of the jury was much more affected. Indeed, he was actually weeping when he delivered the verdict of "Guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy." The other jurors would not look at the prisoner and hurried from the court room as soon as Justice Ingraham had thanked them for their services to the state. As soon as the verdict was announced Mr. Wiman fell back in his chair with a groan. His son placed his arm about his father's shoulders and the two sat silent for a few minutes. Then Sheriff Brown came up and Erastus Wiman started for the Tombs. On Wednesday morning Mr. Wiman will be sentenced.

MEXICO INVITES CHINESE.

An Important Treaty Arranged—No Restriction of Any Kind.

San Francisco, June 14.—Lai Yung You, late Chinese consul-general at this city, is in receipt from the Tsung Li Yamen, of the foreign office of the Emperor of China, a notice of his appointment as ambassador, with full powers to ratify the treaty between China and the United Mexican States. Upon the arrival of the representative of the Chinese minister, Yung Yue, who is to accompany the party, the ambassador and his suit will proceed to the City of Mexico. This is expected to occur during the next ten days.

The treaty in question was prepared by a San Francisco lawyer and has already been submitted to both powers.

It is now certain that the ratification of the treaty by both nations is only a matter of form, and within a short time it will be in full force and effect. It is understood that Lai Yung You, who will negotiate the treaty, will, upon its ratification, receive the appointment of minister to Mexico, and will also enter upon the duties of his office, making his headquarters at the Mexican capital. It is for this purpose that he has remained in this country since the arrival of his successor, Cheung, the present consul-general at this port.

The treaty provides that the Chinese residents of Mexico shall have the right of becoming naturalized citizens, with all the rights which belong to the native citizens.

There will be no laws of registration or exclusion of Chinese laborers, but on the contrary the doors are to be thrown open and a cordial welcome extended to the Mongolians to come and go as their business or pleasure may require.

In all matters of commerce, the Chinese will be permitted to enjoy the same privileges granted to all other foreign nations, first to all object they are to be treated alike.

As a return for all these favors to be enjoyed by the Chinese who settle in Mexico the Chinese government will extend the same privileges and courtesies to the citizens of Mexico, who may go to China or engage in commerce in that country. The treaty is liberal in every respect and no favored nation could ask for more.

It is reported that the adoption of the treaty will result in a large exodus from San Francisco's Chinatown to Mexico, and that Chinese of this city and China are already organizing and preparing to take advantage of their opportunities in Mexico. There is talk of an Asiatic steamship line from Mexico.

Master Workman Powderly.

Philadelphia, June 13.—Ex-Master Workman Powderly has issued for circulation among the Knights of Labor a pamphlet purporting to give the inside history of the movement which compelled his resignation. He says that General Secretary-Treasurer Hays, when asked by the executive board to abolish the system of espionage in his office, threatened to accuse members falsely of stock jobbing, and said: "Once a lie is told it will go, and I will lie whenever I want to, make a point." In the last general assembly, Powderly says, Hays admitted there was no truth in his charge against the executive board, and said: "I always wanted to get rich, and I will get rich if I can." Powderly says James Hughes told him the National Democratic committee had given $5,000 to defeat him for re-election. Sovereign also told him substantially the same.

As Well as Ever

After Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured of a Serious Disease.

"I was suffering from what is known as Bright's disease for five years, and for days at a time I have been unable to straighten myself up. I was in bed for three weeks; during that time I had leeches applied and derived no benefit. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised in the papers I decided to try a bottle. I found relief before I had finished taking half of a bottle. I got so much help from taking the first bottle that I decided to try another, and since taking the second bottle I feel as well as ever I did in my life." GEO. MERRETT, Toronto, Ont.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient, yet easy of action. Sold by all druggists. 25c.

THE BRITISH PACIFIC.

With its customary lack of honesty, the Vancouver World asserts that "in Victoria the opposition candidates are representing that the government are doing their best to support the British Pacific scheme. Of course the opposition candidates are doing nothing of the sort. It is open to them, however, to show that the government are dealing with the subject in a very dishonest way and endeavoring to deceive either the people of Victoria or the people of the mainland. Part of Mr. Davie's speech at Westminster is reported thus: "In connection with the Canada Western, Mr. Davie said that the proposition made to the government was to guarantee interest on $3,000,000, which the government would not entertain, and no scheme except one on strictly business principles would be entertained." Compare this with Mr. Vernon's utterance at Vernon: "No proposition of any description had ever been laid before the government by the promoters of this railway, and it would receive no vestige of support if it were ever broached." When two members of the cabinet make assertions so distinctly at variance the public may well ask what they are expected to believe. But that is not all. In a private way members of the government and their henchmen are appealing to Victoria electors to support the government on the strength of a distinct statement that they are sure to contribute such public aid as will secure the construction of the railway. Premier Davie talks about a scheme based on "business principles," but he is careful to offer no definition of what the business principles satisfactory to the government would be. On the other hand Mr. Vernon says no proposition for further aid will be accepted by the government. Then, as if to back up the chief commissioner's declaration and show beyond peradventure the position to be taken by the government's mainland supporters, the World comes forward with the following editorial remarks:

"The government have declared that they will be ready to consider a fair, business-like proposition from any organization prepared to carry a line of railway from the upper end of Vancouver Island by way of Seymour Narrows—the bridging of which, it is said, is impossible—and thence across the province by way of Barkerville and the Yellowhead pass to Edmonton, where a connection with the railway system of the Northwest will be made. As the carrying out of this would require many millions of dollars, and as this could not be done without the help of the government, and as doing so would assuredly imperil our credit abroad, the World has strenuously opposed the proposal which some [illegible] government's policy, we believe, is to be liberal in dealing with railway companies as regards land grants and monetary aid in sections where urgently needed. Having time and again declared themselves against further encumbering the country with financial burdens, such as the Canada Western, or British Pacific, would be certain to entail, the taxpayers can rest assured that not a cent will be taken out of the public coffers to aid this very, very remote scheme. The construction of a line from a point on the C. P. R. into Cariboo will help to open up and develop a very rich mining region. We approve of that scheme and ask for it public assistance from both the federal and provincial governments."

It needs no very keen perception to arrive at the conclusion that the government men are playing a game of deception in Victoria, and that they are asking Victorian support on a false pretence when they promise that if the Davie combination is kept in power it will secure the construction of the British Pacific. Mr. Vernon and the World have completely established the fact that the mainland friends of the government would not allow them to extend such aid to the scheme as they assert to Victorians they are ready to do. Of course in this we assume that Mr. Vernon and the World are not deliberately lying to deceive the mainland voters. It seems to us that all this shilly-shallying and deception should have an end. The government should say distinctly and definitely what they are prepared to do, making any statement to this city and the mainland alike. When the premier and his colleagues come before the people at a public meeting they should be challenged to offer such a statement, and to explain why they adopted the very dishonest though ingenious plan of saying one thing here and another elsewhere. The game is up, gentlemen; better explain your position with what honesty you can muster.

Just to show how Mr. Hunter's friends in Comox treat what the government presents to Victorians as its pet scheme, we produce from the Comox News the following piece of editorial satire. The News is Mr. Hunter's journalistic champion:

"It is now claimed that the British Pacific Construction Co., which is to build the Canada Western railway, have entered into a contract with the famous inventor Praull for the construction of aerial cars to pass over the Gulf between Duluth and Wacklington labor. It is said that these wonderful cars, or flying machines, are to be built of aluminum, nickel and steel, and will be remarkably strong and light, capable of carrying 100 persons and as many tons of freight. It is estimated that they will make the passage at about 70 miles an hour. The only reason why they are not to be used on the entire line is that while they are operated perfectly over water they are affected by some magnetic influence while passing over land which renders their action uncertain and use hazardous. Private pointers reached here a week ago, and many investments have quietly been made. There can remain no doubt now about the success of the entire scheme. The main difficulty has been obviated, and nothing remains but plain—flying."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

That was a very curious proposition made to the school board by the "Victoria Political Association," with reference to the use of ward school buildings by the committees of the said association. We are a little surprised that the trustees should have conceded even so much as to allow the use of the buildings for political meetings, and much more surprised that none of their number should have been prepared to grant the association's request in its original form. School buildings in cities should be used exclusively for school purposes. In the country districts it is the rule that no other buildings are available for meetings, but in cities that is not the case, and there would be no hardship caused by denying the use of school buildings for any other than their proper work.

The Times said yesterday: "The Colonist seeks to let Mr. Davie out of the Westminster inaccuracy to which we referred yesterday by stating that the News' report of his speech was wrong." This the Colonist re-produces to-day as follows: "The Times says that the Colonist seeks to let the Times out of the Westminster inaccuracy by stating that the News' report which it quoted was wrong." This is about as near the truth as the Colonist and its master usually get, and quite as near to it, as they are in connection with this particular subject. Imagination before facts with them at any time.

The San Francisco Examiner has hopes that the tariff bill will come out of the struggle in better condition than at present. It says: "The Democratic reformers in the senate have evidently adopted the policy of depending on the house to bring back the bill into a shape in which it can be consistently defended before the people, and in this they are probably right. The first necessity is to shut off senatorial loquacity and bring matters to a focus. The bill must pass the senate in some form or other, and it makes comparatively little difference what that form may be. Whatever it is, it will only constitute a basis for negotiation in the conference. We feel confident that when the house gets its hands on the work of the senatorial compromisers nothing will be left of the sugar scandal. We are reasonably certain that there will be a substantial reduction in the senate duties on coat and iron ore, and are not without hope that they will be entirely eliminated. The expressions of public opinion have been so emphatic that the reformers, who have repeatedly shown that they command a large, enthusiastic and determined majority of the house, will be encouraged to make demands which the senatorial jobbers will not dare to resist."

NATIONAL SENTIMENT.

Patriotism Was Despised by the Earlier Christians.

The early Christians for a long time actually despised patriotism; they not only saw and felt that on this earth they had no abiding city, but they disclaimed to owe their allegiance to a higher power. This was a notion that prevailed until the growth of national sentiment became strong enough to make a Christian a patriot as well. Machiavelli, who had a lively appreciation of the pagan virtues, was one of the first writers of renown to exalt patriotism to a high place among the virtues. In his eyes all was fair in war, if not in love, and he openly declared his admiration for those who loved their country better than the safety of their sons.

Patriotism was, in short, an old-world virtue, which at the time of the Renaissance was dragged out of its recess and refurbished for the use of the modern world. Eclipsed for a season, it has shone as bright again as ever it did in Greece or Rome. Many a citizen has since been cast in the mold of Aristides or of Regulus. But it is curious to observe that when national sentiment was weak there was in some respects a greater sense of the brotherhood of man than there is to-day.

Amid all its wars and turmoil, Europe made a nearer approach to solidarity and union. Christianity was a great welding force. The dreams of a universal church were in some slight degree realized, and the holy Roman empire was a stupendous fact which formed a cementing bond between races undoubtedly fused.—Macmillan's Magazine.

TRAWLING.

Plenty of Fish off the Columbia but no Market.

The use of net trawls along the Pacific coast is apparently increasing. Those operated by the San Francisco fishermen are of the type used in Southern Europe, and are the Tarnazella of the Italian fishers. Recently a trawl net has been used for deep sea fishing off the entrance to the Columbia river. One Saturday afternoon this month the steamer Augusta cast the trawl in thirty fathoms of water and made a big haul of crabs and groupers. She then moved to where the water was 75 fathoms in depth and dragged the trawl for three hours, and caught so many soles that it was a hard job to get so many on board. Three casts of the trawl were made in all, and then the Augusta was headed for Astoria, and the fish arrived there inside of 19 hours from the time they were caught, the crabs being still alive. After getting his fish to port in such fine order, the captain of the Augusta was disappointed that they could not all be disposed of.

A SNAP SHOT.

R. G. Beveridge, a well known local amateur photographer, has secured a snapshot picture of a rattlesnake biting a man, and, so far as known, the picture is the only one of its kind in existence. It is hardly necessary to state that it was obtained by accident.

Dr. C. J. Reynolds, formerly of this city, has been spending a few days in the woods in this vicinity assisting Rattlesnake Pete Gruber catch snakes for the latter's museum, and to illustrate the process to his friends in Pittsburg he determined to take a series of photographs. The box of 22 snakes already captured, together with the photographic outfit, was taken to a [illegible] Berryville by Dr. Reynolds, Pete and Beveridge. The snakes were photographed in different postures, and as a climax it was desired to illustrate how the biggest snake of the lot was captured.

It was placed on top of a huge mass of rock, and the doctor posed as if he had just caught sight of the reptile and was motioning to Pete, who was climbing up the face of the rock. In his anxiety to get a good pose Dr. Reynolds failed to notice that while he was getting into position the snake had worked its way to the edge of the rock. When Pete put his hand over the edge to steady himself the snake, over five feet long, struck savagely at the moving finger. Its teeth grazed the ball of the thumb, cut the skin, but did not draw blood, and a quantity of venom spread itself over the thumb, but was washed off with the contents of a bottle of ammonia and did not do any damage.

The photographer was so startled by the snake striking that he convulsively squeezed the bulb connecting with the shutter of his camera and secured what is probably the most unique photograph in the state.—Oil City Derrick.

A CURIOUS SLAB.

Scientists Puzzled Over the Inscription —A Religious Sect Revealed.

While men were blasting on Bay street, Fredonia, Chatauqua county, N. Y., Saturday morning, they turned up a slab three feet long, two feet wide and one foot thick, bearing an inscription which was very clear when the stone had been washed. One side of the stone had been polished smooth, and bore the following words: "Vos est unos aetatis municipium et morio 5th year of Antiem."

Scientists have visited the spot, inspected the slab, puzzled over the inscription and made many attempts at translation. All believe that the language has a direct bearing on the almost forgotten belief of Antinomianism which flourished in the old world, particularly in England, during Cromwell's time.

The fifth year of Antiem, the date on which the inscription was supposedly cut into the face of the stone, would be 1654. According to history the believers in Antinomianism interpreted the fourth chapter of Romans and the second chapter of Peter in such a manner that they believed all good men and women could violate all moral laws of personal purity and still be good Christians. This easy sort of religion at one time had many disciples, and its precepts were lived up to in the years which followed the reign of the dissolute Charles II., but which were firmly stamped out, lost sight of and forgotten.

It is believed that some of these may have found their way through the wilderness and established temples in what is now Fredonia. Here they set up a temple and lived according to their peculiar belief. Their total disappearance may be accounted for on the basis that they lost their lives by falling victims to the Indians. To-day further investigations will be made in the hope of discovering additional relics of this forgotten belief. The slab will be preserved by the Chatauqua County Historical Society.—Sacramento Bee.

—The teachers who are busy examining papers in connection with the recent promotion examinations in the public schools meet with some very funny answers. a stone from a foundation and it is weakened; a picket from a fence gives it an ill appearance, the vacancy destroys its symmetry, and the void is at once apparent. A hole the size of a pin's head in a kitchen utensil detracts from its usefulness, and a spoke from the wheel of a vehicle at once causes comment. It is the same with the mouth of a human being. An absent tooth gives the mouth the appearance of an "open wall." The symmetry is forever gone, the features are distorted, and already the process of decay has begun. In time other teeth will become affected, and the mouth a row of blackened and disfigured stumps. Crown and bridge work is a specialty in dental science, and of which Dr. H. B. Findley is a master. By these processes the mouth is made whole, decay of teeth arrested and the features restored to their original appearance.

The Prendergast Case is in a Very Strange Condition.

Chicago, June 15.—The Prendergast case has reached an extraordinary stage. By a series of unprecedented judicial proceedings it has become involved in confusion from which lawyers say it will be difficult to extricate it. Some attorneys go so far as to question whether the assassin, if the technicalities of the law are regarded, is not forever free from the death sentence passed on him. Even his trial, which was set for to-day, was placed on the calendar. Neither Judge Chetlain nor any other judge called it, and when counsel moved, before Judge Payne for another continuance, he either overruled the motion or refused to entertain it.

The question now is: Is the case discontinued? The state's attorney, however, says there is nothing in this view of the case, and that yesterday's proceedings, or rather lack of proceedings, cut no figure. Judge Payne's remarks after court seem to point to the same conclusion. The arson conspiracy trial is now going on before him.

The judge said: "I will not consider the Prendergast case until I have consulted the state's attorney and advised myself fully in the matter. The arson conspiracy trial is dragging out to an unexpected length and will not be finished to-morrow. I shall not allow the Prendergast motion or anything else to interrupt the case on trial. The Prendergast motion is now pending, and I suppose it can wait until it can be taken up in the regular way when it is reached."

State Attorney Kern said to-day the case would go over until the arson conspiracy trial was finished. "The date of continuance has been agreed upon," said he, "and when the order is made the case will go over to November 12th. The only thing that remains is to have the order officially passed upon by the court and entered of record."

Prendergast was brought into court to be present during the proceedings, and managed to work in his usual insane act. His hands were folded behind him and he wore his accustomed scowl. While the court was waiting for Mr. Harlan to send for his documents Prendergast got restless, and finally struggled to his feet and said: "Your honor, the state has served the defendant with a notice that they are willing to have the case go over to the September term. Now, we want no continuance; I am ready for trial. The question to determine is guilt or innocence, not insanity. Murder is the malicious taking of a human life. That crime has not been committed."

Prendergast ceased speaking and began looking about him. One of his attendants forced him back in his chair, the assassin sitting down with a frown. Judge Payne had not pretended to hear Prendergast's remarks.

BELASCO WENT TO JAIL

And His Loving Wife Went off on a Delightful Yachting Cruise.

New York, June 15.—Several weeks ago Justice McMahon ordered Frederick Belasco, the actor, and brother of the playwright, David Belasco, to pay his wife, Grace Wallace Belasco, $5 a week alimony. Miss Wallace was formerly a chorus girl at the Casino. Her husband protested against the order, as he was suing his wife for divorce, but Justice McMahon insisted that he must pay the alimony pending the settlement of the divorce proceedings. Belasco paid the alimony for a week or so and then defaulted. His wife secured a warrant for his arrest, and Saturday Belasco was arraigned in Jefferson Market court and charged with failing to pay his wife alimony. Belasco wanted an examination at once, but his wife, who was fetchingly attired in a yachting suit, asked for an adjournment, as she had an engagement to go yachting which she could not break. The hearing was adjourned until to-day, and Belasco, who was unable to furnish bail, was locked up, while his wife tripped merrily out of court to keep her yachting engagement.

Millionaire Rancher White Has a Most Unpleasant Experience.

Ukiah, June 15.—George E. White, the Round valley cattle king and millionaire, was forced at the point of a revolver to sign eleven notes, amounting to $25,000, by Daniel Woodman on Friday last. White came into Ukiah to-day and reported the case to Sheriff Johnson, who left at once for the scene of the occurrence to apprehend Woodman. White's story is as follows:

Last Friday he was riding on horseback towards his home in Round valley. Within three-quarters of a mile of the valley a creek intersects the road, the [illegible] bottom. The bank is quite high where the road dips down to the creek, and White pulled up his horse and slowly descended the bank.

Just as the horse's hoofs struck the creek bottom a man sprang from the bush and drawing a bead on White with a big dragoon's revolver, commanded him to halt. The startled rancher drew rein. In the man with the revolver he recognized Daniel Woodman, formerly his partner in the sheep business, but whom he had not seen in seven or eight years.

"Hullo, Woodman; what do you want —what do you mean?" asked the rancher.

Woodman was frantic with rage. He glowered at White and shouted:

"I want to kill you. Oh, how I should like to kill you. I have been looking for you a long time, but everything has gone against me, — you. I have you and will kill you. Get off your horse."

White retained his presence of mind, keeping as cool as possible under the circumstances. He told Woodman that if he had to be killed he preferred being killed from his horse.

"If you intend to kill me you might as well do it here as on the ground," he said.

Woodman then drew from a pocket some papers, saying to White, with an oath:

"Here are some notes that I want you to sign. If you refuse to sign them I shall kill you."

White saw that it was useless to argue with the infuriated and determined man at the other end of the pistol.

"If you will furnish me with pen and ink I will sign," he answered. As he said this he made an involuntary movement to get a pencil from his pocket.

"Drop your hands," shouted Woodman, who thought that White m[illegible] reaching for a weapon. Then t[illegible] the rancher the notes and a fountain pen. There were eleven or twelve notes, the amounts they called for aggregating $25,000.

Sitting there in the cool dusk of the creek bottom, under the persuasive influence of a big revolver in the hands of a desperate man, in whose eyes there was a desperate gleam, Rancher White signed the notes, handing them as fast as he signed them to Woodman, who scrutinized them and thrust them into his pocket.

The rancher was closely watching Woodman. After the latter had secured the notes he glared at White with a look that made the latter shiver, for there was murder in the man's face.

What might have happened then will probably never be known. But just then there appeared some distance away on the slope of the road two farmers' wives trudging towards the creek. Both men saw them.

With an imprecation Woodman told White to ride on under penalty of his life, and wheeling [illegible] White was well away he turned and plunged into the bushes. White rode on his way home.

To-day he came to Ukiah and invoked the aid of the sheriff in securing the arrest of Woodman and the recovery of the notes. The banks were also notified not to negotiate the paper.

It is supposed that the intention of Woodman was to kill White after obtaining possession of the notes, but that the unlooked for appearance of the women frightened him.

London, June 11.—Mrs. William Langley, of 21 Euclid avenue, London South, has for the past five years been subject to fits. She was treated by doctors in Lansing and Detroit, Michigan, and by three different physicians in London. No one of them could cure her. About two months ago she began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since then she has had no return of the fits. To-day she is perfectly cured. Her trouble was undoubtedly due to kidney disorder, a fact which the physicians who treated her never discovered, and consequently their treatment was in vain.

A Mad Dog's Doings.

Dallas, Tex., June 15.—A mad dog in this city yesterday killed two dogs and three cats and bit seven people, three of them probably fatally. A negro boy was literally torn to pieces. A Mrs. Worden was attacked in her house and horribly mangled. Nick Powers, a workman, was seized by the thigh while attempting to escape by a ladder and frightfully lacerated. Jennings Moore, a salesman, had pieces of flesh torn from his arms and sides. Mrs. Mary Arthur, an invalid lying on a cot in her home, was attacked and her arms, legs and sides torn so she will die. A policeman finally killed the brute.

At the first indication of disorder, the deranged or enfeebled condition of the stomach, liver, or bowels, should be promptly rectified by Ayer's Cathartic Pills. These Pills do not gripe, are perfectly safe to take, and remove all tendency to liver and bowel complaints.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—The general election now being near at hand, and being a candidate for re-election, I wish to place my views on some of the questions coming into your attention, as well as to intimate the line of action which I shall take and the measures which I shall, if opportunity permits, support and maintain.

The party now in power have practically held office for over eleven years. Their policy has been an indefinite one on many of the questions requiring consideration. At the last general election the Opposition advocated reform in the land laws of the province, and since then have advocated many important changes.

The privilege of allowing speculators and non-residents to take up large tracts of land has been taken away and the lands are now available for actual settlers.

By the efforts of the Opposition the assessment of the wild land has been much increased; the ad valorem principle of assessment according to the land value, is now the law.

There are two essential matters yet to be carried out in connection with the encouraging of agricultural settlers. First, the surveying of available lands for such a purpose and giving the necessary information by the Lands and Works Department; second, the making of roads to such settlements, so that the farmer may be able to bring his produce to market—such a policy as this must be adopted in order to develop and encourage the farming industry of our province. By so doing we shall add much to our wealth and prosperity.

The railway policy of the Government has not been a business-like one. From the time of the grant given to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway down to the Nakusp & Slocan deal, the interests of the province and the welfare of the people have not been well guarded. On the one hand a corporation receives a large subsidy and an immense tract of land, free from taxation for ever; on the other, a private company is subsidized by guaranteeing the bonds to the full cost of the road as well as interest on the same for twenty-five years. One cannot but come to the conclusion that a Government policy of such character is likely to bring the credit of the province into disrepute.

Monopolies of any kind are to be deplored, but monopolies backed by Government aid and support are often the most difficult to overcome. Government aid to such an extent as has been given in the instances referred to, precludes other roads from being assisted or built. As an instance of this we recognize the difficulty the British Pacific Railway will have in dealing with the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and its existing rights. Thus by the action of the present Government in the past it looks as if the province were at the mercy of ringsters and monopolists who are despoiling the people of their heritage.

I am opposed to the executive using its power to make large appropriations of money by special warrant for roads, streets, bridges, and public work, without first submitting such to the legislature. Such a course of action leads to favoritism and corruption and is not in accord with the principles of constitutional government.

I have advocated, and will continue to do so, the reduction of taxation on improvements and the abolition of taxation on mortgages. The latter imposts presses doubly hard upon the borrower, and the repeal of this law would be in the interest and for the advancement of the province.

The practice followed on the eve of a general election of promising aid to public works and institutions by members of the executive should be condemned, as it is attempting to bribe the electors with their own money. The Independent electors should answer this by sending men to the Legislature who will do their utmost to remove such ministers from power.

During the past four years legislation has been brought about, chiefly by the Opposition, in reforming the School Law. The residents of the cities have now greater power over the management of their schools, and more is yet desired in this particular. I shall use my best endeavors to bring this about, so that our schools may be free of all political influences.

I have also advocated further restriction on Chinese immigration and the employment of Chinese by any company seeking charters or grants from the Legislature. I have advocated and still maintain that a clause should be inserted in all bills giving such privileges or aid to prevent the employment of this class of labor.

I also have advocated the necessity of employing residents of the province instead of non-residents or foreigners in the prosecution of all works or contracts let by the government.

It is impossible in an address of this kind to touch on all questions affecting the province. I hope, however, before long to have the opportunity of addressing the electors in public meeting, at which time I will refer to matters more extensively.

Hoping that my past record as a representative in the Local Legislature has been acceptable to you, I again seek your votes and support.

I remain, yours respectfully,

G. L. MILNE.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—As a candidate in the coming contest for legislative honors, and particularly as a labor candidate, I take this method of expressing some of the views I hold relating to the good government of the province.

I believe that heretofore, although workingmen have assisted largely in electing representatives to the legislature and parliament, their interests have not, generally speaking, been advanced or guarded; but on the contrary laws have been enacted whereby the greater burden of taxation has been placed upon the shoulders of the workingman, and monopolies have been fostered to the detriment of their interests and the country at large. These many financial men and capitalists have made or influenced the making of our laws, and I believe that a remedy may be applied by workingmen being represented in the councils of our land by men from their own ranks—men who are not only in sympathy with them, but who are in touch with their necessities.

I believe that every man is entitled to an equitable share of what his labor produces; also that enterprise and ability to organize and direct labor to the accomplishment of large undertakings deserves special consideration, but not to the extent that it is often accorded by the governments of the present day.

I would advocate a reduction in the hours of labor, and consider an eight hour law should be established by the government and enforced on all government work.

Also the establishment of a provincial labor bureau for the purpose of gathering reliable information on the labor situation, so that intending immigrants may be made fully acquainted with the true state of the labor market in the province.

I believe that as a class the Chinese are injurious to the province, as they undoubtedly ridicule our religion and laws; introduce loathsome diseases and demoralizing habits; they trade exclusively among themselves and send what wealth they may acquire from our province to enrich their own empire. I believe the government should make every effort to lessen the evil which is the result of the presence of Coolie labor, and in the absence of laws similar to those in force in Australia, our government should, when granting privileges to companies and corporations, insist on a clause in the charters granted prohibiting the employment of Asiatic labor by such corporations or companies.

I advocate a liberal railway policy, feeling sure that we must have these most important highways to assist in developing the many latent resources of the province; but am opposed to the granting of monopolies in land for speculative purposes to companies to the exclusion of settlers.

I also believe that all religious questions should be kept out of our schools, being confident that the numerous religious institutions are quite capable of dealing with that matter.

I will more fully express my views on these questions at public meetings, to be held, hoping you and me may ever to give me your support at the polls, I am,

Yours respectfully,

ARTHUR H. DUTTON.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—As I am a candidate to represent you in the Provincial Legislature, I wish to give my views on some of the important questions of the day.

I hold that each man is entitled to all his labor produces; therefore, no tax should be levied on the products of labor.

The road tax, the provincial revenue tax, personal property tax, mortgage tax, taxes on improvements, and all taxes on useful trades and industries are unjust and should be abolished.

To carry out these principles, I am in favor of raising all public revenues for provincial and municipal purposes by a tax upon land values, irrespective of improvements.

This tax would lower rents, raise wages, encourage industry, equalize opportunities, and thereby benefit all.

The present electoral system gives unequal representation, and calls for legislative reform.

The monetary deposit now required from candidates for the provincial legislature should be abolished.

I am in favor of passing laws to exclude Asiatic labor from government works and prohibiting any further Asiatic immigration. When Chinese labor can be excluded from any works, by inserting clauses to that effect in charters and grants, it should be done.

I advocate a reduction in the hours of labor; an eight hour law should be established by the government and enforced on all government works.

I am in favor of establishing a Small Debts Court, to enable merchants and others to collect accounts with as little loss of time and money as possible.

I am an independent supporter of the opposition, because I feel they are inclined to go furthest in the direction of the reforms which I advocate; at the same time I wish it distinctly understood I am for measures and not for men.

As canvassing by a candidate is, in my opinion, contrary to the spirit of the ballot, it is not my intention to personally ask for votes. Trusting you may deem me a fit and proper person to represent you in the legislature, I hereby earnestly solicit your votes and influence. Faithfully yours,

W. G. CAMERON.

AFFAIRS OF THE SCHOOLS.

Atty.-General Davie Says S. S. Yates is Entitled to His Seat on the Board.

Two Letters on the Incomplete State of the New North Ward Building.

The board of school trustees met at the city hall last evening and disposed of a large amount of business. Chairman Hayward presided, and Trustees Marchant, Glover, Saunders and Lovell were present.

The following letter from the attorney-general dealing with the standing of J. Stuart Yates was read:

Victoria, June 9, 1894.

Secretary School Trustees:

Sir,—Replying to your two letters of April 12 and June 7, and to the question which you ask whether the term "actual resident" employed in the second line of section two of the public school act amendment act, 1894, can be applied to James Stuart Yates, who is a member of your board, and who resides some three hundred yards outside the limits of Victoria, but has his place of business within the city limits. He is also a property holder within the city and his name appears upon the list of voters for mayor of the city. I beg to confirm the opinion which I already gave verbally to a deputation of your board, and to state that in my opinion Mr. Yates is fully within the definition of actual resident contained in the enactment referred to.

THEODORE DAVIE,
Attorney-General.

Trustee Lovell said he was glad to hear the letter read, and hoped that Mr. Yates would now resume his seat at the board. He moved that the letter be received, spread on the minutes and a copy sent to Mr. Yates. It was so voted.

The following letter from A. P. MacNeil was read, as was the one following it:

Victoria, June 13, 1894.

Board of Trustees:

Gentlemen,—Having visited the North ward school, I find the absence of a number of conveniences which I believe are necessary to the well being of teachers and pupils. First, there is no provision for drinking water made except in the basement. It will be necessary to have a tap and waste pipe at each end of the building on the second flat and in the basement. I think it wise to have wash bowls in the basement. Second, there are no conveniences for hanging maps. Third, on account of the smallness of the windows the rooms and halls are very dark, especially so on cloudy days. This defect could be somewhat relieved by whitening the walls. Fourth, in each cloak room shelving on one side would be very convenient for lunch baskets, etc. Hoping the above wants will be attended to, I am

Yours respectfully,
ANGUS B. McNEILL.
Victoria, June 13, 1894.

Secretary School Board:

Dear Sir,—I wish to suggest to your board the desirability of placing a basin in the principal's room and in each of the teachers' rooms in the North ward school building.

Yours faithfully,
C. J. SOULE.

Trustee Saunders said he was surprised to hear that the water had not been carried up to the second floor, and blamed the architect.

Trustee Lovell said that he regarded the contract as unfilled.

Trustee Marchant strongly condemned the showing made by the two letters. His motion to refer to the supply committee and chairman, with power to act, was carried.

R. T. Tolmie, secretary, wrote asking for the use of the North ward school building for committee meetings.

Chairman Hayward and Trustees Lovell and Marchant believed that the request could not be granted if it referred to the new building, as that is not yet taken over. It might nullify the contract. The latter very strongly opposed granting the use of any building for committee meetings, but believed that both parties should be allowed the use of school buildings for public meetings.

Trustees Saunders and Glover said they had but one application before them to deal with.

It was finally voted to give the Victoria Political Organization permission to hold public political meetings in the old ward schools, but not committee meetings.

An estimate of $148 for extras at the South ward school was referred to the supply committee and chairman. Trustee Saunders suggested that the flags and bells be bought, and on his motion the committee was empowered to have any extra work found necessary done.

Principal Hawkey wrote giving the details of the recent robbery at his school. He believed that some punishment should be inflicted on the boys.

Trustee Lovell said that he believed the parents should administer the proper punishment.

The chairman said he regretted to have boys of any such age brought up in court. He favored a good, practical whipping.

Trustee Lovell said the teachers were not whipping machines.

Trustee Marchant said he came from a district infested by hoodlum boys, and was strongly in favor of administering severe punishment. There were certain things which they could not condone, and he believed that in this instance it was their duty to see that punishment was administered by parent, teacher or the law. He strongly condemned the practice of boys writing obscene words on walls, fences and blackboards.

Trustee Lovell agreed with him as to the latter.

Trustee Glover said if these boys were incorrigible they should go to the reformatory.

A select committee, consisting of the chairman and Trustee Lovell was named to see the parents and seek some settlement of the matter.

It was decided to have the closing examination this year in the South ward building.

Principal Netherby wrote saying that he was unable to find the boy complained of by Ald. Lellaghan of having thrown a rock at a Chinaman, causing his horse to run away.

The May report on the attendance was as follows: Average daily attendance, 1702.57; average actual attendance, 1681.27; pupils actually attending, 1948; average per teacher, 47. It was accepted.

The secretary reported that he had entered an appearance for the board in the suit of the Globe Furniture Co.

Trustees Marchant and Saunders said Mr. Muirhead had said that there was every prospect of the suit being settled.

The supply committee wrote favoring the covering of pipes in the schools with mineral wool or asbestos, providing the funds are available. The report was adopted and the matter was left in the hands of Trustees Glover, Lovell and the chairman, who have power to act and will call for tenders.

A number of applications for positions as teachers, for promotions, and also for janitorial places were received and laid on the table.

Trustee Marchant moved that the children of the city be granted permission to play on the upper portion of the grounds of the Central school between the hours of 4 and 9 o'clock in the evening during the summer months. He explained that there was a resident janitor and the chief of police had promised to detail an officer for duty there. The motion carried.

On motion of Trustee Marchant it was decided that when the old schools are abandoned all the old desks be taken out and held as a reserve to replace the stock of the other schools from time to time.

Trustee Marchant moved that a committee be appointed to see if another room can be procured in Victoria West to relieve the pressure there.

Trustee Lovell seconded and it was carried. The mover and seconder were made a committee.

Trustee Lovell moved, seconded by Trustee Saunders, that the supply committee be instructed to look into the matter of securing a supply of wood for use next winter. Carried.

Trustees Glover and Lovell, the committee appointed to look into the matter of the quarrel between the janitor and a teacher at Victoria West, and the failure of the janitor to do his duty, reported. They gravely reported that the quarrel was a private one and one that the board could not settle. They also found that there was an unusual length of stove pipe to be cleaned, and the janitor should have $1 a month more. He was, however, condemned.

Trustee Marchant said something that sounded like "whitewash." He criticized the report and the framers of it defended it. Trustee Marchant said the other janitors should have their salaries raised. The report was finally adopted, with the understanding that the Spring Ridge janitor should get an extra dollar as well.

In committee of the whole with closed doors the report of Chairman Lovell of the boundary committee was discussed. The boundaries were decided upon as follows:

Victoria West ward—The whole of the city on the west side of the harbor and arm.

North Ward—All the district lying north of the following: Commencing at the water along the centre of Johnson, Government, Pandora, Blanchard, Chatham, Cook and Bay streets, the Cedar Hill road to the south boundary of Oakland estate; thence east to the city boundary.

South Ward—All the district lying south, commencing at the custom house, along the centre of Wharf, Humboldt, Maclure, Collinson, Franklyn and Cook streets, southward to the sea.

Central Ward—All the portion of the city between the north and south wards to the city boundary eastward.

All the children of school age living in these districts will be required to attend their district school.

The board considered a large number of applications for the position of janitor, and after repeated ballots appointed Edmond Collis to be janitor of the south ward school and Joseph Robertson for the north ward. They will begin their duties on July 1. The board sat till after midnight considering changes in the teaching staff necessitated by the new schools, and finally adjourned to meet again this evening at eight o'clock.

BLEW OUT HIS BRAINS.

Sickness and Continued Suffering Cause an Old Man to Suicide.

At noon on Monday a most unfortunate and heartrending occurrence brought grief and sorrow to the home of Mr. Robert Reisterer, on Ninth avenue, Mount Pleasant, Vancouver. Amongst the members of his household was an old gentleman, Alois Steinhauser, his father-in-law. Mr. Steinhauser had been ailing for some time and though ably and kindly attended by Dr. [illegible] dropsical attack had proved most persistent and had had a remarkably depressing effect upon the poor man's spirits. At noon the family sat down to their midday meal and Mr. Steinhauser ate a little, although of late he had not taken much nourishment. After a few minutes he arose from the table and retiring from the room sought his chamber. This being usual caused no comment and the midday meal proceeded. It was soon, however, interrupted by a sharp crack apparently coming from the rear of the house, and upon running out the family beheld in the woodshed the poor old man stretched prostrate with blood flowing from a hole in his temple, contrasting strangely with the snowy locks that had marked his years.

It appeared that he had gone to his room, procured a heavy Smith & Wesson revolver and quietly retiring to the shed had placed the weapon to the right of his forehead where it had been discharged. The heavy ball crashed through the skull piercing the brain transversely and coming out on the opposite side, and there is no doubt that with the flash the poor old man went out into the dark.

The awful act was occasioned by a morbid mental depression accompanied by and sympathetic with physical ailment.

Madrid, June 14.—It is said France and Italy have agreed to Spain's request that the powers act in concert in Morocco, in order to avert civil war. Great Britain and Germany accepted Spain's suggestions with reserve.

Tangiers, June 14.—It is reported that the chief princes who are likely to cause trouble have been removed from command in the army. Some were sent to distant provinces, others imprisoned. In his political testament the late sultan directed that a council of regency be appointed until his young son, Abdul Aziz, the present sultan, attains his majority.

TRAVEL AMONG FLOODS.

Bishop Junger's Hard Journey in the Okanagan Country.

Bishop Junger, of the Washington diocese of the Catholic church, arrived here Tuesday from the Okanagan and Conconully counties, the Colville Indian reservations, and a part of Stevens county, where he has been travelling the last two months on a missionary trip. Bishop Junger experienced great hardships from the floods in the Okanagan country. When he reached Tacoma he was almost tired out. Since then he has been quietly resting at the residence of Father Hylebos. He will leave for Vancouver to-day. A young missionary priest who accompanied him on the trip was so overcome by the hardships that he became ill when near Spokane and was left in the care of friends.

While traveling in the Conconully country Bishop Junger and his companion were surrounded by a flood which rose so suddenly as to bar on each side of them, leaving them on an island. Though provisions were scant, the travellers were held prisoners ten days, until the water receded far enough for ten friendly Indians to take the bishop's carriage ashore, which they did by wading through water nearly to their chins. All this time the bishop had to sleep in his buggy. While he was near St. Mary's mission a cloudburst occurred. A small stream in a canyon near by raised 60 feet in one night. That was the flood that swept Conconully away. The bishop was again cut off by the waters from the rest of civilization and three days he subsisted on tea and bread. The party was again rescued by friendly Indians in canoes.

The bishop reports that the storm is the worst ever known in those parts by any of the white settlers or even the Indians. The suffering there on account of the floods, he says, is very great. The grocery stores are all located on the rivers, the sudden rising of which has swept all buildings away. The result is that the country is almost entirely without provisions. Many of the people had only escaped with their clothing and consequently are destitute.—Tacoma Ledger.

NAKUSP & SLOCAN.

Some Further Light Thrown on the Methods of Construction.

The following letter appears in the Columbian:

Sir,—At the meeting last night Mr. Turner, in speaking of the Nakusp & Slocan railway, stated, by way of defence of the government's action in subsidizing the scheme to such an extent, that "the company and the contractors would not make any money out of the undertaking." Surely the government, when voting the aid, did not expect that it would more than build the road! Is not a railway, presumably first-class (as was stated in the house by Mr. Vernon), constructed and equipped at a cost of $750,000 to the people, a considerable profit to a syndicate which has contributed, so far as can be learned, only $30,000 of their own money in the enterprise? If no benefit, except a proprietory one, has accrued to the railway syndicate, the fault surely is due to their own want of management, for it is known that the sub-contractors cleared in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The prices paid by the contractor (D. McGillivray representing the construction company) were from 10 to 20 per cent. more than the American contractor paid, during the same season, on the Nelson & Fort Sheppard railway, for similar work. Had this wonderful construction company been composed of practical men, undertaking this work on a business basis, instead of being actuated by political motives, and used to the prejudice of the government and their contracting friends, it is now given out quietly that the amount is only $500 a month, and that there will be no profits.

There are other reasons why there are no profits (if such is the case) which would be evident if discussed before a tribunal not hampered by the scope of the inquiry.

Instantly Killed.

North Bend, B. C., June 15.—While Brakeman Fred McDiarmid was engaged this afternoon in coupling an engine to a flat car loaded with timber his head was jammed between the tender and a stick of timber, which protruded too far out from the end of the car, and which he evidently did not notice until it was too late. He was instantly killed. He came here from Scotland about four years ago, and is believed to have no relatives in this country.

ATHLETICS.

YALE EXPECTS TO CONQUER.

New Haven, Conn., June 15.—At a meeting of the undergraduates of Yale this evening it was decided to send a Yale team to compete with Oxford in athletics. T. H. Sherrill, jr., 1889, announced that the Oxford authorities had already procured grounds and that a letter of invitation was now on its way to this country. Compared with Oxford's records Yale's showing is better than the Englishmen's.

Oxford stipulates that all the Yale men must conform to the A. A. A. rules, and in addition all competitors in the Oxford-Yale athletic contests must have taken part in the recent Yale-Harvard and Oxford-Cambridge sports. The contest will be held on the Queen's club-ground in Kensington.

A. Poud, of Detroit, Mich., whose excellent work at Traverse Island Saturday brought him to the fore, will take Sanford's place in the 100-yard and quarter mile sprints. Allowing for the English measurement, Yale's record in this year in the contests are better in the hammer, shot, half-mile, broad jump and hurdle, and in practice are better in the 100 yards, quarter mile and high jump.

Arrangements have been made to send the men on the steamer New York, which is to sail June 20th.

CRICKET.

VICTORIA COLLEGE VS. ALBION.

This afternoon a Victoria College eleven play the Albion Cricket club at the latter. The teams are as follows:

Victoria College—C. Marpole, J. Peters, P. Higgins, H. Lawson, D. Macleod, J. Macleod, G. Wilson, H. Wilson, A. Goward, T. Mitten and C. Cartwright.

Albion Cricket Club—C. A. Maltby, Q. D. Warden, W. H. Howard, H. Martin, C. Schwengers, F. Thomas, H. Hewitt, J. C. Jones, A. C. Anderson, C. Frost and H. C. Janion.

Great interest is taken in this match as the college have won all their fixtures so far this season, but will have to play very hard to-day to maintain their reputation.

BASEBALL.

CAP AND GOWN VS. TOWN.

Rah! rah! rah! rah! rah! rah! rah! Stanford! This is the cry that will make the welkin ring at the great international contest next Thursday at the Caledonian grounds between the stalwart students of Stanford University and the Asnties of Victoria. The Palo Alto baseball team has had a phenomenal success. Their series of victories entitle them to be styled the champions of the Pacific coast. The Victoria nine has been selected and the positions assigned as follows: Lenfesty, pitcher; Smith, catcher; Partridge, 1st base; Widdowson, 2nd base; Franklin, shortstop; Wrigleworth, 3rd base; Gouge, left field; Gowen, centre field and Schultz right field. The selection of the team has been a difficult and delicate task. There were many candidates for the various positions and discrimination had to be exercised in making the choice, but it is admitted that the above nine is the best that can be put in the field. With Hannan, Jackson and Borthwick the local representatives would more than hold their own, but unfortunately Hannan is out of the city, Jackson is tied to business and Borthwick has been on the sick list. The relative chances for victory of the home team are being eagerly canvassed and it is agreed by those who have watched the Asnties at practice that they should prove no easy victims.

The Leland Stanford team is composed of gentlemen who not only excel on the field of play, but also stand well in the class lists of their great university. The majority of them are studying law, and they boast a couple of promising and frequent contributors to the California press. Their reception on the Sound has been most enthusiastic, the ladies of Seattle and Tacoma having entertained them with receptions, excursions and dances. The college men have refused to accept invitations to banquets on the ground that they are intent on making a record and that athletes cannot play ball well and dine sumptuously at the same time. Much of the success of the Stanfords is due to their rigorous discipline, their early beds. Victoria is essentially a cosmopolitan city, and it would be well to show these students that whilst Canadians are proud of their own national game of lacrosse, they can still sink all prejudice and find something to appreciate in the game that the people of the great republic love so dearly. Baseball is a part of the everyday life of the American citizen. The heroes of the diamond are extolled in song and verse. Who has not heard of "Casey at the Bat," Casey, the great Casey, who steps to the plate with the bases full. He carries his bat with a lordly air and looks at the opposing pitcher with a glance "serene and high." The pitcher winds himself into an inextricable knot and then swiftly out of a mass of human entanglement something flashes across the plate. The umpire calls strike and Casey smiles. That was very clever, but Casey inwardly vows to perforate a knot-hole in the furthermost corner of the field when the next ball comes within striking distance. Again the pitcher performs the same contortions, and a deceptive drop records another strike against Casey. Casey is surprised and lifts his brows in mild amaze. The bleachers are heard from now: "Kill the ball, Casey," "Lose it," "you can't hit a balloon," and similar expressions assail his ears. He braces himself again and once more the sphere crosses the plate. Casey makes a wild attempt but only makes a hole in the atmosphere, and Casey, the great Casey, dumbfounded, perplexed, and with humiliation, slinks to the bench, when but a few minutes before his bearing had been so proud and jaunty. And there is O'Hoolihan, who thus describes his exploits at ball:

They made me carry all the bats,
They put me out in centre field,
And I paralysed them all,
I put out me hands to shtop a flolye,
When the murtherin' thing struck me in the olye,
And they hung me out on the fence to dry
The day I played baseball.

I took up me bat to make a stroike,
I knocked it to San Francisco;
Around the bases I did run,
A dozen times or more,
When all the boys set up a howl,
O'Hoolihan you've made a foul;
And they rubbed me down with a Turkish towel,
The day I played baseball.

The editor he axed me nolme,
To give me a leather methel;
He axed me for me photograph
To hang agin the wall,
For he said it was me as had won the game,
With my head all broke and me shoulder lame
And they carried me home on a cattle train,
The day I played baseball.

SOUTH NANAIMO.

Tully Boyce Gets a Rousing Reception —A Little Spat.

The government meeting in South Nanaimo last evening showed conclusively the true state of affairs in that district. The electors favorable to the Davie administration are painfully few in number and they are divided against themselves. The majority favor Dr. Walkem, but Mayor Quennell being the choice of the wire-pullers in Nanaimo, both men are in the field and there will be a split by means of which Tully Boyce, the unanimous choice of the Opposition party, will be returned by an overwhelming majority.

Premier Davie had nothing new to say. He vigorously defended all past actions of the government and assured the electors that in the future even better would be done.

Mayor Quennell and Dr. Walkem followed. They had a lively spat in which the latter came off best.

Tully Boyce made the speech of the evening. He was cheered to the echo, even the government supporters being carried away by his eloquent denunciation of the whole policy of the present government.

Mr. Keith also spoke, making several points against the premier.

Davie replied at some length but the audience was rapidly vanishing and at midnight the meeting dispersed without the usual vote of thanks to the chairman.

The whole affair was remarkably tame considering the efforts that had been made by the town clique, assisted by the Wellington branch, to work up some semblance of enthusiasm.

A WESTMINSTER PIONEER.

One of the First Settlers Crosses the Dark River.

He organized the first Orange lodge on the Pacific coast, was first district master and first grand master of the provincial grand lodge. He was the first civilian married in Westminster. He leaves a wife, five sons and four daughters. The eldest daughter is the wife of Government Agent Warwick. The funeral takes place on Tuesday afternoon.
